The Honorable William J. Casey, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

You may perhaps remember my father, [redacted], who was in the O.S.S. and knew you in World War II. He has always spoken of you with enthusiasm and admiration. For a time after the War, [redacted] I myself would like to work for the C.I.A. and I am writing to ask you the best way in which to do this.

[redacted] I have been in solo practise in McLean and have been very successful. However, I have always been patriotic and want to serve my country. In this respect, private practise is not satisfying to me. I am eager to do something more. I have considered joining the army, but I feel I would be more useful in the Agency.

STAT

I have a second career, as an author. I had a magazine column for eight years and have written two successful popular books, as well as scientific articles for medical journals.

I would like to work for the Agency, and would be able to work abroad. Since you are the Director-General of the C.I.A. I am taking the liberty of writing to ask you what, in your opinion, my next step should be.

Yours sincerely,
